COVERS WIDE SCOPE OF DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN RELATIONS

LAYS BEFORE CONGRESS MOST EXTENSIVE LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM IN YEARS

BELIEVES IN ABOLISHING RAILROAD LABOR BOARD FOR A LABOR BRANCH

(By United Press)

Washington, Dec. 8.—For the first time in history the words of the President as he appears before congress with his annual message, will be heard in distant parts of the country. President Harding when he appears before congress today will speak directly into a radio transmitter. His words will be broadcasted through the naval air station at Anacostia. It is expected that the President will be heard as far west as the Rocky Mountains.

Washington, Dec. 8.—In a message that covered the entire scope of domestic and foreign problems confronting the nation. President Harding today laid before congress the most extensive legislative program outlined by any president in many years. At the same time Mr. Harding reaffirmed and defended before the world the American foreign policy as developed by his administration.

The present domestic program as outlined to the joint session of congress, included startling proposals among them being abolition of the Railroad Labor Board and substitution of a labor branch of the Interstate Commerce Commission consisting of four members; anti-strike legislation to make decision of this new labor board enforceable; credit and marketing legislation for agriculture; consolidation of railroads into a few systems; an anti-child labor amendment to the constitution. He announced that he would call a conference of all governors on prohibition enforcement.

He answered Georges Clemenceau, war time French premier, and others who criticized American aloofness. To them Mr. Harding said in effect: America has not shirked and would not shirk international obligations nor permit infringement of American rights anywhere, but that this government would not engage in threats of armed alliance or in any commitment where either a council or an assembly of the League of Nations may "chart the course."

The president in emphatic terms called attention to upholding the 18th amendment and prohibition enforcement, declaring that conditions relating to enforcement of the Volstead law "savor of a nationwide scandal" and denouncing those who would break down this law as breeding "a contempt for law which will ultimately destroy the republic." He asserted that the prohibition enforcement problem "is the most demoralizing factor in our republic."

The 18th amendment will never be repealed, Mr. Harding predicted. He said the country may as well recognize that and act accordingly.

To clear up indefiniteness concerning responsibility of the federal government and of the various states and territories in enforcing prohibition, Mr. Harding announced he would call a conference here of the governors of all the states and territories to work out "definite policies of national and state cooperation in administering the law."

Mr. Harding tackled first the farm problem recommending credit legislation by enlarging the powers of the farm loan board to provide ample agricultural and live stock "production credits."

Linked with the problem of farm credits he said is that of transportation, and in respect to it he declared:

1. That the nation must begin to coordinate its transportation facilities including water ways, motors and steel travel vehicles.
2. That government operation does not afford the cure for transportation ills. It was government operation which brought us to the very order

Turks Accept Freedom of Dardanelles

SERVICE IS THE MOTTO OF AMERICAN LEGION ENUNCIATED BY COM. BARRON

Brainerd Thursday night honored its son, Commander Gerald V. Barron, of the American Legion, at a brilliant banquet at the Ransford hotel. Speakers vied in telling good things of our "Jerry" and the jovial, broad shouldered Legionaire was kept busy smilingly acknowledging the many compliments paid him.

And after the local and visiting oratory was exhausted, Jerry started with an informal speech which just carried away the audience by its enthusiasm.

Service to one's fellowman is the guiding star of the American Legion, said Commander Barron. He referred to the time when he was a boy in Brainerd and dwelt lovingly on the good old days. He told of the growing importance of Brainerd as the acknowledged gateway to the 10,000 lakes and that it was growing to be one of the greatest tourist centers in the United States.

One of the greatest assets of Brainerd not recognized in pamphlets sent out, greater than its railway shops, paper and pulp mills, etc., that appealed to Mr. Barron was that wonderful feeling of brotherly love and good fellowship exemplified when Brainerd fellows get together. He had always felt that spirit from the time he rooted for the home team up to the period of the Virginia state convention of the Legion.

He painted a picture of that memorable convention, how things had moved along in a staid fashion, broken eventually by the entry of the Brainerd delegation loaded with decorations and led by that inimitable quartet, the American Legion quartet, Brainerd.

"They had a song campaigning for me and when they came to town Brainerd was on the map. On the second day of the convention all precedents were broken, the quartet was recognized and sang "Honey", and "Where the Mississippi Flows" and then led the whole convention in that song boosting Jerry."

"The quartet was the life of the whole convention and plans are now under way to have them appear at the national convention in Frisco."

Commander Barron congratulated Brainerd post on the splendid record made in its educational week program. Not a post in the state had gone after it in more whole hearted fashion. He congratulated also its chairman, and the toastmaster of the evening, Rev. Fred Errington for putting it over.

The Commander spoke of the origin of the American Legion and the privations endured by soldiers in field and camp, ships and billets. Some things were not ideal because American officers were obliged to go in without proper preparations. Many soldiers died in the influenza camps. Transports jammed in the voyaging soldiers like cattle below decks. Billets were not heated.

Some things could have been improved upon. There was a dearth of trained officers. Some had been trained in three months. Men commanded units who had no knowledge of what men can do. There were majors directing operations who had never carried a pack or even commanded a squad. He mentioned one who marched his men an hour and a half without rest up a 30 degree hill.

"When another war dawns", said Commander Barron, "we will at least have men who know men and who have carried a pack."

All this crystallized into a feeling that the American public should know about conditions and avoid them in the next war. Men got a glimpse of the best that Europe had to offer. They saw what centuries of jealousy and destructiveness had wrought in Europe. The doughboys quickly realized that no country offered such a wealth of good things as did America. And from it came the Legion.

Dedicated to Service
"The Legion," said Commander

Barron, "is dedicated to service to humanity."

As an example of whole hearted support accorded by the Legion, which remained in the background so far as publicity was accorded and chose to work in conjunction with other forces, was the endorsement by the State Legion of the university memorial stadium drive.

The Sweet Bill
When the war was over, the machinery of the government was supposed to take care of the disabled service men. Totally disabled men were assured of only $30 a month until the Legion worked for the passage of the Sweet bill and increased the total disability payment from $30 to $80, with a proportionate increase for dependents.

The Legion had no quarrel with the Veterans Bureau. Minnesota has 265 tubercular cases fanned out to contract hospitals. Two years ago congress appropriated sufficient to build a hospital and a 250 bed unit was to be located at St. Cloud. For two years $13,000,000 had been tied up and not a thing done.

Brigadier General Sawyer lacked sympathy and understanding and had never been a soldier, said Mr. Barron. The Virginia convention asked that Sawyer either resign from the hospitalization board or stand aside. Minnesota men went to the New Orleans convention and their resolution carried two to one, demanding either the resignation of Sawyer or his removal from the board.

No Politics
"Politics should not be tied up with the relief of the disabled service men", said Commander Barron. The resolution would have gone through at New Orleans regardless of what party was in power.

The tariff may be left out of politics entirely. How many more forceful reasons existed that the problems of the disabled service men be entirely removed from any politics. The Legion was too big, too clean, to ever dabble in any partisan politics.

Americanization Work
In quick, broad strokes Commander Barron painted the Americanization plans of the Legion. The spirit of the day was to coordinate all clubs, organizations, all machinery to promote the schools and to encourage people to go to the school. There were many reasons for the Legion to back up Educational Week.

"You will be startled if you realize the illiteracy in America, the short schooling of some, the percentage of men voting who cannot read or write," said Commander Barron. He favored giving each new citizen a copy of the constitution and declaration of independence.

Boy Scout Work
The plan of the Legion is to have every post adopt a Boy Scout troop. Young people are invariably hero worshippers. With legionnaires as Boy Scout leaders, and they surely have a knowledge of woodcraft and physical culture, the Legion had a wonderful opportunity to further the big brother movement.

America Does Not Perpetuate Hate
In a short incident narrated, Commander Barron concisely showed the viewpoint in France and America. It was at a camp in France that the padre came and solicited subscriptions from the American soldiers to build a monument. The men, before donating, wished to know its purpose.

After considerable translation it was explained that the monument was to be erected to perpetuate the hate of French community against the Hun, the expression being quoted literally. It is needless to say no donations were forthcoming.

Now America, said Commander Barron, never went into the World war with such feelings, and when it left the battle field, it was like the football team which has played on the gridiron and accepts victory or defeat and let's it go at that in a feeling of good sportsmanship.

Even Clemenceau, after his recent

(By United Press)

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Dec. 8.—Twenty minutes after his wife, Bertha Kohls, aged 35, had been electrocuted by an exposed wire in the attic of their home here, George Kohls, 38 years old, attempted to demonstrate to the undertaker just how it was done, and was electrocuted in exactly the same manner as his wife. Both died about five minutes after the shock.

Mrs. Kohls stepped in to the attic carrying an extension cord with an exposed wire, and stepped on the radiator in the floor.

Mr. Kohls followed her exact footsteps. Children aged 12 and 8 years old survive. Only a sister was in the home at the time of the tragedy.

MUSSOLINI GUARDED AGAINST COMMUNISTS

(By United Press)

Paris, Dec. 8.—Premier Mussolini of Italy was closely guarded against communist attacks as he traveled across France today enroute to the conference of allied premiers in London.

Radicals here where he is due at 2 o'clock this afternoon posted proclamations calling upon their "comrades" to stage a one day strike and demonstrate against the Fascist leader.

Posters placed in factories and along Mussolini's route denounced him as an "assassin" and "brutal instrument of the reactionary."

The communists were openly hostile in their threats against the Italian premier, and caused police to fear that he might be the object of personal violence.

FIRE THREATENED ASTORIA, OREGON

(By United Press)

Astoria, Ore., Dec. 8.—Nineteen city blocks were wiped out with a loss of $15,000,000 in a fire early today.

The blaze was still eating its way into the heart of the city at 7:30 a. m.

The fire broke out in a pool hall during the early morning hours, and spread rapidly from block to block. Tongues of flames shot high into the air, and building after building fell in the path of the blaze.

Norris Staples, president of the Bank of Commerce, dropped dead of heart failure while he was helping to fight the fire.

Astoria, Oregon, Dec. 8.—Fire today threatened to destroy the entire business section of Astoria.

The flames had caused damaged estimated at more than $2,000,000 and were beyond control.

One entire block of buildings was a mass of smoking ruins, and the fire was slowly eating its way directly through two other blocks.

The cause of the fire was unknown. It was started in the Thiel Brothers restaurant on Commercial street, near 11th. No casualties were reported.

Children Find Their Parents Shot to Death

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 8.—Returning home from school for lunch this noon, a 12-year-old boy and his eight-year-old sister found their mother and stepfather shot to death.

The father, A. J. Correa, held a revolver in his hand. He apparently had shot his wife through the heart and himself through the brain.

CHEAPER TURKEYS FOR CHRISTMAS

(By United Press)

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Cheaper turkeys for Christmas are in prospect, according to produce dealers here.

Morris & Company, packers, today advised their branch dealers to inform customers there would be plenty of Christmas turkey to meet the demand, and suggested that the supply would be more plentiful and the price cheaper late in the week previous to Christmas.

"There is every indication of a normal crop of turkeys," said W. F. T. White, manager of the production department of the company.

LONG LAKE

The Royal Entertainers met at the home of Mrs. M. Caughey in Daggett Brook Friday evening Dec. 1st. It was a beautiful evening and everybody had a fine time.

The skating is fine on the lakes and the young people have been enjoying it.

Mrs. W. H. Johnston has been quite sick the past week.

The parents are invited to visit the school Thursday afternoon in District 3.

For the month ending Dec. 1st the following pupils had perfect attendance in District 3: Bernice Ackerson, Richard Ackerson, Albert Albertsen, Thomas Bassett, Andrew Bassett, Frank Thompson, Robert Thompson.

The average attendance was 91 and school will close Dec. 20th for the Christmas vacation. There will be a program in the evening.

MORE EXECUTIONS STAGED IN IRELAND

(By United Press)

Dublin, Dec. 8.—Rory O'Connor and Liam Mellows, Irish rebel generals taken prisoners after the insurrection against the Free State, was put down in Dublin, were executed at Mt. Joy prison, it was officially announced.

Two other insurgent officers were executed at the same time.

The Free State government announced the rebel leaders were executed as a reprisal for the assassination of Sean Hales, deputy, yesterday.

HOUSEKEEPER WINS BREACH PROMISE CASE

(By United Press)

Moorhead, Dec. 8.—Frances Draszt, 26, who came here from Antelope, Montana, to keep house for Ben Olson, rich Clay county farmer, today won $500 in district court in a breach of promise suit. She charged seduction.

Another suit will be filed by the girl for the support and education of a daughter whose paternity the girl claimed is established by the verdict.

U. S. District Attorney Hildrith and F. H. Peterson, Moorhead, represented the girl.

ELSIE SALISBURY SUFFERS COLLAPSE

(By United Press)

Montevideo, Dec. 8.—After a sleepless night and frequent periods of hysterical weeping, Elsie Salisbury was unable to go into court today.

Her trial on a charge of murdering Oscar Erickson was again postponed. If she is able to stand the nervous strain court will resume tomorrow morning, and the pretty little stenographer will hear more of the dying statement of her slain sweetheart.

Physicians examined her at her hotel this morning and found her in a state of near collapse. They advised Judge Qvale she was physically unable to enter court. Late yesterday she collapsed and a recess was taken.

BANDITS SUCCEED IN 2 BOLD STROKES

(By United Press)

Kansas City, Dec. 8.—Bandits in two bold strikes were successful in robbing U. S. mail here and in St. Joseph during the night.

A mail truck loaded with 84 parcel post packages valued at $2,500 was stolen by bandits here after the drivers were kidnapped.

Three masked men held up a mail clerk in the railroad yards at St. Joseph and escaped with a package of registered mail and two packages of first class mail.

ALL NIGHT HUNT FAILS TO LOCATE MRS. CLARA PHILLIPS, ESCAPED PRISONER

RED COATED MEXICAN POLICE AND AMERICAN POLICE SEARCH MEXICALI

(By United Press)

Mexicali, Lower California, Dec. 8.—The underworld of lower California raked in an all night woman hunt, failed to give up Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer murderess" and pursuit in that direction was abandoned today.

Red coated Mexican police, and American police poked in forbidding corners of this cosmopolitan city's worst dives in a ruthless search for the "tiger woman" who broke jail more than 72 hours ago while under sentence for beating to death with a hammer Mrs. Alberta Meadows.

All night an impromptu review of negroes, Mexicans, Chinese, college-men crazed with drugs, gamblers, criminals and the floatsam of a continent passed before the officers. At dawn the chase was abandoned.

Preferring to credit reports that Clara Phillips never left Los Angeles, authorities will continue the search there.

OLIVER CROSBY DIED IN ST. PAUL

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 8.—Oliver Crosby, 67, who rose from a lumberjack and locomotive fireman to a power in the financial world of the northwest, died here early today.

His estate is estimated to amount to $15,000,000. He was managing partner in the American Hoist and Derrick company at his death.

Born in Dexter, Maine and a college graduate, Mr. Crosby came to Minnesota in 1878 and started his career as a lumber jack. Later he became a locomotive fireman. His rise to influence and power in the business world was gradual.

Ill for the last three years, Mr. Crosby died at Miller hospital at 8 o'clock from pernicious anemia.

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 8.—Returning home from school for lunch this noon, a 12-year-old boy and his eight-year-old sister found their mother and stepfather shot to death.

The father, A. J. Correa, held a revolver in his hand. He apparently had shot his wife through the heart and himself through the brain.

CHEAPER TURKEYS FOR CHRISTMAS

(By United Press)

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Cheaper turkeys for Christmas are in prospect, according to produce dealers here.

Morris & Company, packers, today advised their branch dealers to inform customers there would be plenty of Christmas turkey to meet the demand, and suggested that the supply would be more plentiful and the price cheaper late in the week previous to Christmas.

"There is every indication of a normal crop of turkeys," said W. F. T. White, manager of the production department of the company.

LONG LAKE

The Royal Entertainers met at the home of Mrs. M. Caughey in Daggett Brook Friday evening Dec. 1st. It was a beautiful evening and everybody had a fine time.

The skating is fine on the lake and the young people have been enjoying it.

Mrs. W. H. Johnston has been quite sick the past week.

The parents are invited to visit the school Thursday afternoon in District 3.

For the month ending Dec. 1st the following pupils had perfect attendance in District 3: Bernice Ackerson, Richard Ackerson, Albert Albertsen, Thomas Bassett, Andrew Bassett, Frank Thompson, Robert Thompson.

The average attendance was 91 and school will close Dec. 20th for the Christmas vacation. There will be a program in the evening.

MORE EXECUTIONS STAGED IN IRELAND

(By United Press)

Dublin, Dec. 8.—Rory O'Connor and Liam Mellows, Irish rebel generals taken prisoners after the insurrection against the Free State, was put down in Dublin, were executed at Mt. Joy prison, it was officially announced.

Two other insurgent officers were executed at the same time.

The Free State government announced the rebel leaders were executed as a reprisal for the assassination of Sean Hales, deputy, yesterday.

HOUSEKEEPER WINS BREACH PROMISE CASE

(By United Press)

Moorhead, Dec. 8.—Frances Drasz, 26, who came here from Antelope, Montana, to keep house for Ben Olson, rich Clay county farmer, today won $500 in district court in a breach of promise suit. She charged seduction.

Another suit will be filed by the girl for the support and education of a daughter whose paternity the girl claimed is established by the verdict.

U. S. District Attorney Hildrith and F. H. Peterson, Moorhead, represented the girl.

ELSIE SALISBURY SUFFERS COLLAPSE

(By United Press)

Montevideo, Dec. 8.—After a sleepless night and frequent periods of hysterical weeping, Elsie Salisbury was unable to go into court today.

Her trial on a charge of murdering Oscar Erickson was again postponed. If she is able to stand the nervous strain court will resume tomorrow morning, and the pretty little stenographer will hear more of the dying statement of her slain sweetheart.

Physicians examined her at her hotel this morning and found her in a state of near collapse. They advised Judge Qvale she was physically unable to enter court. Late yesterday she collapsed and a recess was taken.

BANDITS SUCCEED IN 2 BOLD STROKES

(By United Press)

Kansas City, Dec. 8.—Bandits in two bold strikes were successful in robbing U. S. mail here and in St. Joseph during the night.

A mail truck loaded with 84 parcel post packages valued at $2,500 was stolen by bandits here after the drivers were kidnapped.

Three masked men held up a mail clerk in the railroad yards at St. Joseph and escaped with a package of registered mail and two packages of first class mail.

LANDSLIDE IN ITALY, DESTRUCTIVE

(By United Press)

Modena, Italy, Dec. 8.—Six hundred persons fled today from the little town of Tiandegalli where a hundred houses already have collapsed in a land slide and complete destruction is threatened.

The town has been deserted, and its inhabitants are homeless.

HAMMER MURDERESS SOUGHT THROUGHOUT CALIF. UNDERWORLD

ALL NIGHT HUNT FAILS TO LOCATE MRS. CLARA PHILLIPS, ESCAPED PRISONER

RED COATED MEXICAN POLICE AND AMERICAN POLICE SEARCH MEXICALI

(By United Press)

Mexicali, Lower California, Dec. 8.—The underworld of lower California raked in an all night woman hunt, failed to give up Clara Phillips, alleged "hammer murderess" and pursuit in that direction was abandoned today.

Red coated Mexican police, and American police poked in forbidding corners of this cosmopolitan city's worst dives in a ruthless search for the "tiger woman" who broke jail more than 72 hours ago while under sentence for beating to death with a hammer Mrs. Alberta Meadows.

All night an impromptu review of negroes, Mexicans, Chinese, college men crazed with drugs, gamblers, criminals and the floatsam of a continent passed before the officers. At dawn the chase was abandoned.

Preferring to credit reports that Clara Phillips never left Los Angeles, authorities will continue the search there.

OLIVER CROSBY DIED IN ST. PAUL

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Dec. 8.—Oliver Crosby, 67, who rose from a lumberjack and locomotive fireman to a power in the financial world of the northwest, died here early today.

His estate is estimated to amount to $15,000,000. He was managing partner in the American Holst and Derrick company at his death.

Born in Dexter, Maine and a college graduate, Mr. Crosby came to Minnesota in 1878 and started his career as a lumber jack. Later he became a locomotive fireman. His rise to influence and power in the business world was gradual.

Ill for the last three years, Mr. Crosby died at Miller hospital at 8 o'clock from pernicious anemia.

RUNS INTO STREET CAR, BREAKS NECK

(By United Press)

Duluth, Dec. 8.—Blinded by snow, Henry Burley, 16, drove his automobile head on into a street car at noon yesterday and died of a broken neck last night.

Burley was attempting to pass another car.

WOODROW

Dan Peterson called at Clarence Norgard's Sunday.

John Nelson and Wallace Norgard were in Woodrow Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sather were Brainerd shoppers last Wednesday.

G. F. Edquist was in Woodrow on Sunday and also at Ole Norgards.

Frank Patrick's radio works fine. It is very enjoyable to have a radio in this town.

John Edquist of Deerwood visited with relatives Sunday.

Emma and Minnie Nelson visited in Klondike Sunday.

Mrs. Ernest Lund and Bert visited at her sister's Mrs. Geo. Wollet on Sunday.

Lillian Norgard and Dorthea Geith spent Sunday afternoon with Ethel Edquist.

Eveline Theline spent Thanksgiving at her home in Crosby.

Lafe Hanson and family have now moved from Peak's hall and made their home in one of the company houses.

Herman Kunde of Brainerd visited near Woodrow Sunday night.

Olaf Norgard was a Brainerd visitor last Monday.

Richard Kunde and family spent Thanksgiving day at J. Nelson's.

The pie social and dance given for District 5 was a great success. $53 was raised for the school.

He urged a law for registration of aliens for some of them are abusing American hospitality he said.

In this connection the President said there is a crying need for Americans to set an example to immigrants by respecting the laws, and from that he plunged into a discussion of the prohibition problem.

A liberal policy towards education; a constitutional amendment against child labor; another amendment to prevent issuance of tax exempt securities; additional aid for reclamation and irrigation projects; handling of the problem of forest fires to save timber; study of the wide spread in costs between producer and consumer with a suggestion that congress look into cooperative buying as a remedy; measures to promote the development of water and hydro-electrical power in the eastern industrial region; approval of a plan to draft the entire resources of the nation in time of war—these completed the vast program which the President laid before the legislators.

Why the Nation
Demands Calumet

—because it has more than the ordinary leavening strength; it raises millions of bakings every day to a light perfectly baked perfection that cannot be equaled.

—because it contains white-of-egg—the vital element that gives the housewives protection against using a baking powder that has lost its original leavening strength. It assures light, tender, tasteful things every time you bake.

—because it is economical—pure, sure and wholesome.

That's why the sale of Calumet is over 150% greater than that of any other baking powder.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Why the Nation Demands Calumet

—because it has more than the ordinary leavening strength; it raises millions of bakings every day to a light perfectly baked perfection that cannot be equaled.

—because it contains white-of-egg—the vital element that gives the housewives protection against using a baking powder that has lost its original leavening strength. It assures light, tender, tasteful things every time you bake.

—because it is economical—pure, sure and wholesome.

That's why the sale of Calumet is over 150% greater than that of any other baking powder.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

AT LODGE FUNCTION

Mrs. Ella E. Carbine and Mrs. J. St. Cyr of Yeomen Lodge Attend Rhadamanthas' Banquet

Mrs. Ella E. Carbine and Mrs. J. St. Cyr, Foreman and Overseer respectively of Brainerd Homestead No. 602, had the pleasure of attending a very enjoyable banquet, and initiation of a class into the Order of the Realm of Rhadamanthas, at Duluth.

A very appetizing banquet was served at the Spaulding hotel, which was attended by over one hundred members of the society. The program following the supper included an address by Mayor Snively of Duluth, a response by W. B. Hatley of St. Paul, State Manager of the Society; a short talk by Ward Senn of Minneapolis, and C. E. Lovett. The main address of the day was delivered by Supreme Officer A. N. Farmer of Des Moines, Iowa, describing the proposed home for children and aged, to be founded by the society. During his address he intimated that Minnesota may possibly land the institution. The home as proposed is an institution for the care and education of Yeomen girls and boys together with a means whereby the aged may be taken care of, and will be a great asset to any community. Minnesota sites at present are available at Little Falls and Red Wing.

During the afternoon session on Tuesday the officers and deputies held a school of instruction at Canals hall, and in the evening a class of twenty candidates was initiated into the Realm of Rhadamanthas. The degree team of Duluth Homestead No. 3131 conferred the work.

NEW MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Young People of Certain Classes in the Congregational Church Form the Same

A young peoples Missionary society, from the intermediate Sunday school class, of the Congregational church, was organized into the following of the Gleam society, Nov. 25 at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp, the organization being according to the constitution of the W. B. M. L. Chicago.

The society is auxiliary to Minnesota Branch of the Womens Board of Missions of the Interior and the Home Missionary Union.

The officers of the society are viz: President—Margaret Jones. Vice President—Catherine Allbright.

Secretary—Catherine Carmichael. Treasurer—Elizabeth Folsom.

At the close of the organization a short program was carried out after which a missionary box was planned and dolls were made to adorn it. It was decided the box should later be sent to Miss Ella Hoxie, who has charge of a girls schools at Sholapur, India. Miss Hoxie is a W. B. M. L. missionary and has been in India since 1914.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by the hostess, Geneva Johnson was appointed leader for the next meeting.

The Primary department of the First Congregational Sunday school was organized into the Wee Folks band the second Sunday in November, with Miss Maybelle Greweox as leader of the band, or president. Mrs. Harry Wilson was named vice president. Miss Dorothy Carmichael secretary. Miss Dorothy Harris, treasurer. Mrs. C. W. Hoffman and Mr. Louis Knudson lead in the singing of missionary songs.

The president later gave an interesting and educational lesson on India with picture cards illustrating the facts stated.

SECRETARY MELLON'S FRANK STATEMENT

ANDREW MELLON, secretary of the treasury, in his report to congress laid all the cards on the table. His statement will be received by the country, as it was by congress, as a clear presentation of the financial condition of the United States. It was free from such promises as are often made in such pronouncements, and which, when made, are not predicated on any visible possibility of keeping them. Secretary Mellon painted no rosy picture of the country's present condition or future prosperity. He indicated that the present is filled with pressing problems and that the future can only be guaranteed by the integrity and grit of the business interests of this land.

Each of the outstanding points in the annual report of the secretary deserves serious consideration by congress. The first deals with the scarcity of labor and the resultant high wages and greater manufacturing costs. This whole question of the rise and fall of the labor demand calls for the best thought of statesmen. Certainly the country should not be flooded with cheap alien labor to offset this shortage.

The undermaintenance and inadequate equipment of the railroads is mentioned, with the effect of this condition upon the price paid for agricultural produce, which is too high, and the sales price of such produce, which is too low. It has become obvious to those who see the importance of our transportation systems that something must be done to remedy this condition of inadequate service.

In pointing out that the increase in the gold supply has increased speculation and the unnatural expansion of business; that the unsettled conditions in Europe are endangering our markets, and that business in this country cannot progress without foreign markets, Secretary Mellon placed his finger on a serious cause of the present problems that confront the nation. As to the nation's plan for helping this situation, the secretary says: "The treasury believes by keeping its house in order, it can best aid Europe at the present time." This statement is significant and sane. The hope of Europe is with America and Britain and then only in so far as these two nations so order their finances that they may be able to give such aid to Europe as will enable those unfortunate countries to get back to their feet. Dumping our money promiscuously into the coffers of Europe will not save the day. It can only be saved by a careful and intelligent use of American resources, and before all else, a strong and stable financial condition of our treasury and national business.

The prohibition of the issuance of tax exempt securities is asked by the secretary. This would lead to the free use of capital in business and industry or, in other words, it would put capital to work through channels that would further development instead of allowing it to flow into those easier channels where it is freed from taxation while income is secured. And in line with this the secretary recommends the reduction of the sur-tax on large incomes. This he would reduce 50 per cent. In suggesting this Secretary Mellon expresses the belief that such high levies as are at present in force have restricted business expansion, and that, even though the amount of the levy were reduced by 50 per cent, the revenue would not be decreased. It is reasonable to suppose that this able financier knows whereof he speaks. There is no advantage to anyone in holding up the legitimate business expansion of the nation, and in the end any interference with the normal flow of business re-acts upon the people at large who are required to pay for the privilege of thinking that they have compelled some one else to pay.

In pointing out that the value of Liberty bonds has increased $2,500,000,000 since 1920, and in announcing that, given a policy of rigid economy, the federal taxes will not be increased during the coming year, the secretary of the treasury calls attention to a splendid showing of the administration that has not been properly appreciated by the people.

AN EARLIER ENTRANCE TO THE WHITE HOUSE

TWO RESOLUTIONS are before committees of the senate which are similar in their recommendations. The Norris and Ashurst resolutions both favor an earlier inauguration of newly elected presidents and an earlier convening of newly elected congresses. The Norris resolution goes further than the one submitted by Senator Ashurst in asking for the abolition of the electoral college and the direct election of President and Vice-President.

The judiciary committee is considering the Ashurst resolution and is likely to report favorably on its provisions, while the Norris resolution is receiving the consideration of the agricultural committee.

There is a great deal that may be said in favor of the Ashurst recommendations. When a president, as in the case of the election of 1920, has become very popular and the candidate he supports has been seriously defeated at the polls, it would seem that the successful candidate whom the people have chosen to represent them in the highest office within their gift, should take his office at the earliest possible moment consistent with an adequate period allowed his predecessor to turn over the affairs of the outgoing administration to the President-elect.

On the other hand President Harding's opposition to the resolution is not without point. He believes that the tendency to tinker with the constitution ought to be checked; that the matters under consideration are not of sufficient moment to call for the amendment of the constitution; because the President has power to call a new congress into extraordinary session within six months after election.

The constitution should not rest as a dead hand upon progressive recommendations; nor should recommendations that are unimportant be considered as sufficient ground for amending the constitution.

In some cases the changes would work well, while in others they would contain danger. A congress meeting early after an election, where the issues had called for the arousing of a popular reaction, that might, with changing conditions, speedily pass, would be likely to act in accordance with the expression of popular feeling and the result of such half baked legislation would be regrettable. Changes should not be made unless they are likely to meet the pragmatic test which will cause them, when proposed, to be submitted to the test: "Are they likely to secure an unquestionable advantage to the nation at large?"

SOMEONE is after the colleges in Minnesota. Three college fires recently destroyed $1,000,000 worth of buildings and equipment. Perhaps they are trying to roast out the evolution bug.

To COMPEL careless autoists to look upon their victims in the morgues is not half a bad idea. Many a man ceases to be the cause when he has been brought face to face with the effect.

MINNEAPOLIS turns over its city government to school boys for half an hour. We venture that there was a minimum of politics in the administration during that period.

ELSIE SALISBURY is in a hard place. She is the first person to be tried for murder in Chippewa county, and therefore the county is not used to such things as yet.

SUPERINTENDENT WEBSTER of the Minneapolis schools says that teachers will not spank unspanked children. He believes in keeping the home fires burning.

DAR-DAN-ELLES! It sounds bad, and it is as bad as it sounds.

OTHER PEOPLES OPINION

COURT HOUSE GROUNDS

To the Editor of the Brainerd Dispatch:

Will you kindly allow me space to correct the false impression conveyed by your article of Nov. 25, regarding the sale of, as you say, "a part of the court house grounds."

The court house grounds comprise 300 feet of ground obtained by the county through condemnation proceedings, and 80 feet of South 4th street vacated by the city council, making a frontage on Laurel street of 380 feet. The court house is placed in the center of this property and was well under way when the county acquired by purchase the lots on the corner of Laurel and 5th streets, and if I am correctly informed, the commissioners purchased this property, not as additional court house grounds, but solely for the purpose of controlling them and to prevent any large or unsightly buildings that would obstruct the view of the court house being placed on said lots.

Under the conditions of the proposed sale of 50 feet of 300 feet of these lots the commissioners have fully protected the county's interests and prevented any possible chance of obstructing the view of the court house as the location of the proposed beautiful and artistic Japanese designed filling station will be provided for in the deed, if sold, and will be south of the inside line of the sidewalk at least 30 feet and will not come to view from east Laurel street until you have reached the corner of the Gardner block, and should you then care to look over the top of the filling station, you would see the red brick warehouse to the south and should you desire to see the court house over the top of the artistic filling station you would have to turn south on 5th street and walk south at least 50 to 75 feet before you could obtain your imagined view.

As to the value of the property, the price offered is more than it cost the county and it must be sold to the highest bidder, so all who want it have a fair chance. The property would of course be worth more without restrictions than tied down to one use. I honestly believe that if sold to me the filling station I propose to build will add materially to the beauty of the surroundings. It will put the property on the tax lists and will bring in about $250.00 yearly in taxes.

I have no resentment toward anyone who disagrees with me in this matter, but do resent the inference in your article of underhanded work, and I think it not only unfair but an insult to the county board and myself, as the whole matter has been handled according to law, above board, and in advertising the property the legal description of lots and blocks is the only possible description that could be used.

In conclusion will say it has been rumored that I may be buying the property for some one else, which is untrue. If the county board see fit to sell me this property, I will build the finest filling station in Brainerd and operate it myself.

Very respectfully,
WM. NELSON

SECRETARY MELLON'S FRANK STATEMENT

ANDREW MELLON, secretary of the treasury, in his report to congress laid all the cards on the table. His statement will be received by the country, as it was by congress, as a clear presentation of the financial condition of the United States. It was free from such promises as are often made in such pronouncements, and which, when made, are not predicated on any visible possibility of keeping them. Secretary Mellon painted no rosy picture of the country's present condition or future prosperity. He indicated that the present is filled with pressing problems and that the future can only be guaranteed by the integrity and grit of the business interests of this land.

Each of the outstanding points in the annual report of the secretary deserves serious consideration by congress. The first deals with the scarcity of labor and the resultant high wages and greater manufacturing costs. This whole question of the rise and fall of the labor demand calls for the best thought of statesmen. Certainly the country should not be flooded with cheap alien labor to offset this shortage.

The undermaintenance and inadequate equipment of the railroads is mentioned, with the effect of this condition upon the price paid for agricultural produce, which is too high, and the sales price of such produce, which is too low. It has become obvious to those who see the importance of our transportation systems that something must be done to remedy this condition of inadequate service.

In pointing out that the increase in the gold supply has increased speculation and the unnatural expansion of business; that the unsettled conditions in Europe are endangering our markets, and that business in this country cannot progress without foreign markets, Secretary Mellon placed his finger on a serious cause of the present problems that confront the nation. As to the nation's plan for helping this situation, the secretary says: "The treasury believes by keeping its house in order, it can best aid Europe at the present time." This statement is significant and sane. The hope of Europe is with America and Britain and then only in so far as these two nations so order their finances that they may be able to give such aid to Europe as will enable those unfortunate countries to get back to their feet. Dumping our money promiscuously into the coffers of Europe will not save the day. It can only be saved by a careful and intelligent use of American resources, and before all else, a strong and stable financial condition of our treasury and national business.

The prohibition of the issuance of tax exempt securities is asked by the secretary. This would lead to the free use of capital in business and industry or, in other words, it would put capital to work through channels that would further development instead of allowing it to flow into those easier channels where it is freed from taxation while income is secured. And in line with this the secretary recommends the reduction of the sur-tax on large incomes. This he would reduce 50 per cent. In suggesting this Secretary Mellon expresses the belief that such high levies as are at present in force have restricted business expansion, and that, even though the amount of the levy were reduced by 50 per cent, the revenue would not be decreased. It is reasonable to suppose that this able financier knows whereof he speaks. There is no advantage to anyone in holding up the legitimate business expansion of the nation, and in the end any interference with the normal flow of business re-acts upon the people at large who are required to pay for the privilege of thinking that they have compelled some one else to pay.

In pointing out that the value of Liberty Bonds has increased $2,500,000,000 since 1920, and in announcing that, given a policy of rigid economy, the federal taxes will not be increased during the coming year, the secretary of the treasury calls attention to a splendid showing of the administration that has not been properly appreciated by the people.

AN EARLIER ENTRANCE TO THE WHITE HOUSE

TWO RESOLUTIONS are before committees of the senate which are similar in their recommendations. The Norris and Ashurst resolutions both favor an earlier inauguration of newly elected presidents and an earlier convening of newly elected congresses. The Norris resolution goes further than the one submitted by Senator Ashurst in asking for the abolition of the electoral college and the direct election of President and Vice-President.

The judiciary committee is considering the Ashurst resolution and is likely to report favorably on its provisions, while the Norris resolution is receiving the consideration of the agricultural committee.

There is a great deal that may be said in favor of the Ashurst recommendations. When a president, as in the case of the election of 1920, has become very popular and the candidate he supports has been seriously defeated at the polls, it would seem that the successful candidate whom the people have chosen to represent them in the highest office within their gift, should take his office at the earliest possible moment consistent with an adequate period allowed his predecessor to turn over the affairs of the outgoing administration to the President-elect.

On the other hand President Harding's opposition to the resolution is not without point. He believes that the tendency to tinker with the constitution ought to be checked; that the matters under consideration are not of sufficient moment to call for the amendment of the constitution; because the President has power to call a new congress into extraordinary session within six months after election.

The constitution should not rest as a dead hand upon progressive recommendations; nor should recommendations that are unimportant be considered as sufficient ground for amending the constitution.

In some cases the changes would work well, while in others they would contain danger. A congress meeting early after an election, where the issues had called for the arousing of a popular reaction, that might, with changing conditions, speedily pass, would be likely to act in accordance with the expression of popular feeling and the result of such half baked legislation would be regrettable. Changes should not be made unless they are likely to meet the pragmatic test which will cause them, when proposed, to be submitted to the test: "Are they likely to secure an unquestionable advantage to the nation at large?"

SOMEONE is after the colleges in Minnesota. Three college fires recently destroyed $1,000,000 worth of buildings and equipment. Perhaps they are trying to roast out the evolution bug.

TO COMPEL careless autoists to look upon their victims in the morgues is not half a bad idea. Many a man ceases to be the cause when he has been brought face to face with the effect.

MINNEAPOLIS turns over its city government to school boys for half an hour. We venture that there was a minimum of politics in the administration during that period.

ELSE SALISBURY is in a hard place. She is the first person to be tried for murder in Chippewa county, and therefore the county is not used to such things as yet.

SUPERINTENDENT WEBSTER of the Minneapolis schools says that teachers will not spank undisciplined children. He believes in keeping the home fires burning.

DAR-DAN-ELLES! It sounds bad, and it is as bad as it sounds.

OTHER PEOPLES OPINION

COURT HOUSE GROUNDS

To the Editor of the Brainerd Dispatch:
Dear Sir:

Will you kindly allow me space to correct the false impression conveyed by your article of Nov. 25, regarding the sale of, as you say, "a part of the court house grounds."

The court house grounds comprise 360 feet of ground obtained by the county through condemnation proceedings, and 80 feet of South 4th street vacated by the city council, making a frontage on Laurel street of 380 feet. The court house is placed in the center of this property and was well under way when the county acquired by purchase the lots on the corner of Laurel and 5th streets, and if I am correctly informed, the commissioners purchased this property, not as additional court house grounds, but solely for the purpose of controlling them and to prevent any large or unsightly buildings that would obstruct the view of the court house being placed on said lots.

Under the conditions of the proposed sale of 50 feet of 199 feet of these lots the commissioners have fully protected the county's interests and prevented any possible chance of obstructing the view of the court house as the location of the proposed beautiful and artistic Japanese designed filling station will be provided for in the deed, if sold, and will be south of the inside line of the sidewalk at least 30 feet and will not come to view from east Laurel street until you have reached the corner of the Gardner block, and should you then care to look over the top of the filling station, you would see the red brick warehouse to the south and should you desire to see the court house over the top of the artistic filling station, you would have to turn south on 5th street and walk south at least 50 to 75 feet before you could obtain your imagined view.

As to the value of the property, the price offered is more than it cost the county and it must be sold to the highest bidder, so all who want it have a fair chance. The property would of course be worth more without restrictions than tied down to one use. I honestly believe that if sold to me the filling station I propose to build will add materially to the beauty of the surroundings. It will put the property on the tax lists and will bring in about $250.00 yearly in taxes.

I have no resentment toward anyone who disagrees with me in this matter, but do resent the inference in your article of underhanded work, and I think it not only unfair but an insult to the county board and myself, as the whole matter has been handled according to law, above board, and in advertising the property the legal description of lots and blocks is the only possible description that could be used.

In conclusion I will say it has been rumored that I may be buying the property for some one else, which is untrue. If the county board see fit to sell me this property, I will build the finest filling station in Brainerd and operate it myself.

Very respectfully,

WM. NELSON

SERVICE THE MOTTO OF

tour of America, has at last sensed the spirit of America, said Mr. Barron.

In a glowing peroration, Commander Barron described his visit at the tomb of Napoleon, and other historic spots, but the major thrill came when the doughboys on ship saw the outlines of Miss Liberty through the fog of the Jersey coast and beyond it sensed the hills and valleys of good old Minnesota.

European nations, said he, were now reaping the reward of centuries of destructiveness, doubt, suspicion and greed. America, on the other hand, is peaceful, governed by laws implanted by our forefathers and every citizen should thank God for being an American with all his precious heritage, opportunities and future.

At the close of his address Commander Barron was given an ovation.

Opening Scenes

At the opening of the banquet the American Legion quartet, composed of S. F. Alderman, Roland Jenkins, A. C. Mraz and R. E. Bemmels sang a group of three songs, one being the song that elected "Jerry" state commander.

On Andy Gleriet's broad shoulders fell the pleasant duty of introducing the toastmaster, Rev. Fred Errington, army chaplain, and he did it in pleasing manner.

Local and Other Speakers

Walter F. Wieland, county attorney-elect, said all citizens of Brainerd should join with the American Legion and local post to further those things which will make for a better citizenship and improvement in educational matters. He complimented the Legion on the results attained in their championing of Educational Week.

O. J. Bouma carried greetings from the Lions and praised the State Commander for being a square shooter. The Legion was striving for the high ideals of America.

Col. C. D. Johnson said that in this period of world unrest, when empires were falling, the people looked to America. God has a great problem for America and in working out its destiny it will act as teacher and exemplar for the rest of the world.

A. C. Mraz, in splendid voice, sang two selections.

Michael Marea paid his tribute to Commander Barron and the Legion and voiced the feeling of the rural communities.

P. T. Brown spoke of the spirit shown by the American Federation of Labor and the Legion and extended an invitation to Commander Barron to meet with the executive committee of the state federation. He referred feelingly to the old days when "Jerry" was the official rooter of the Brainerd baseball team.

Roland Jenkins sang several selections and was accorded much applause.

Steve Simonet, Past Commander of Little Falls post, brought the good wishes from his comrades. It was with pride that they regarded the State Commander as much "their man" as did Brainerd.

Past District Commander Milton Mahlum gave a vivid picture of the national convention held in New Orleans, of the proceedings and the part Jerry Barron and the Minnesota delegation played in pushing through hospitalization, board reforms. He mentioned Co. Leech's plans for a new form of draft, should war clouds ever hover over America, and that draft is to include labor, finance, soldiers, every activity.

The American Legion quartet sang "A Little Cottage" and as an encore gave "Honey".

Edward Dorsey spoke for the Pillsbury delegation which arrived two hours late because of a delayed train. Pillager was a 100 per cent post and progressive in the highest degree.

Rev. Errington voiced the regret of the assemblage over the absence of District Commander Dr. Saunders. Mike Murray, of Sauk Rapids and St. Cloud, had a witty speech with shafts directed at a half dozen present. He also praised the Educational Week of the Legion.

The toastmaster alluded to the mass meeting at the New Park theatre Friday evening when President

Brown of the State Teachers College of St. Cloud would be the principal speaker in Educational Week matters.

The American Legion quartet sang a song full of local witticisms.

Then followed the address of State Commander Barron. The exercises opened with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner and closed with singing America, the quartet leading and the accompaniments being played by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

"The Middleman"

The Knights of Columbus of America has pledged their national support to Educational Week, Dec. 3 to 9th. Locally, the Knights of Columbus are promoting a branch of this good work by organizing a dramatic club here in the city. Although their initial performance is not during this week, as originally planned, it will be given on the evening of Dec. 19th when they will present "The Middleman" by Henry Arthur Jones, a delightful play of English life.

The performance was first given at the Shaftesbury theatre in London with E. S. Willard in the stellar role and played for two successive years. In this country it was presented at the Cort theatre in New York City with the noted James Hackett in the lead, where it enjoyed a long run.

The local cast will give a careful authentic presentation. The seat sale has been unusually heavy and it is advised that theatre-goers purchase their tickets now.

SERVICE THE MOTTO OF

tour of America, has at last sensed the spirit of America, said Mr. Barron.

In a glowing peroration, Commander Barron described his visit at the tomb of Napoleon, and other historic spots, but the major thrill came when the doughboys on ship saw the outlines of Miss Liberty through the fog of the Jersey coast and beyond it sensed the hills and valleys of good old Minnesota.

European nations, said he, were now reaping the reward of centuries of destructiveness, doubt, suspicion and greed. America, on the other hand, is peaceful, governed by laws implanted by our forefathers and every citizen should thank God for being an American with all his precious heritage, opportunities and future.

At the close of his address Commander Barron was given an ovation.

Opening Scenes

At the opening of the banquet the American Legion quartet, composed of S. F. Alderman, Roland Jenkins, A. C. Mraz and R. E. Bemmels sang a group of three songs, one being the song that elected "Jerry" state commander.

On Andy Gieriet's broad shoulders fell the pleasant duty of introducing the toastmaster, Rev. Fred Errington, army chaplain, and he did it in pleasing manner.

Local and Other Speakers

Walter F. Wieland, county attorney-elect, said all citizens of Brainerd should join with the American Legion and local post to further those things which will make for a better citizenship and improvement in educational matters. He complimented the Legion on the results attained in their championing of Educational Week.

O. J. Bouma carried greetings from the Lions and praised the State Commander for being a square shooter. The Legion was striving for the high ideals of America.

Col. C. D. Johnson said that in this period of world unrest, when empires were falling, the people looked to the Legion to exert its influence in America. God has a great problem for America and in working out its destiny it will act as teacher and exemplar for the rest of the world.

A. C. Mraz, in splendid voice, sang two selections.

Michael Marea paid his tribute to Commander Barron and the Legion and voiced the feeling of the rural communities.

P. T. Brown spoke of the spirit shown by the American Federation of Labor and the Legion and extended an invitation to Commander Barron to meet with the executive committee of the state federation. He referred feelingly to the old days when "Jerry" was the official rooster of the Brainerd baseball team.

Roland Jenkins sang several selections and was accorded much applause.

Steve Simonet, Past Commander of Little Falls post, brought the good wishes from his comrades. It was with pride that they regarded the State Commander as much "their man" as did Brainerd.

Past District Commander Milton Mahlum gave a vivid picture of the national convention held in New Orleans, of the proceedings and the part Jerry Barron and the Minnesota delegation played in pushing through hospitalization, board reforms. He mentioned Co. Leech's plans for a new form of draft, should war clouds ever hover over America, and that draft is to include labor, finance, soldiers, every activity.

The American Legion quartet sang "A Little Cottage" and as an encore gave "Honey".

Edward Dorsey spoke for the Pillager delegation which arrived two hours late because of a delayed train. Pillager was a 100 per cent post and progressive in the highest degree.

Rev. Errington voiced the regret of the assemblage over the absence of District Commander Dr. Saunders. Mike Murray, of Sauk Rapids and St. Cloud, had a witty speech with shafts directed at a half dozen present. He also praised the Educational Week of the Legion.

The toastmaster alluded to the mass meeting at the New Park theatre Friday evening when President

Brown of the State Teachers College of St. Cloud would be the principal speaker in Educational Week matters.

The American Legion quartet sang a song full of local witticisms.

Then followed the address of State Commander Barron. The exercises opened with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner and closed with singing America, the quartet leading and the accompaniments being played by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland.

"The Middleman"

The Knights of Columbus of America has pledged their national support to Educational Week, Dec. 3 to 9th. Locally, the Knights of Columbus are promoting a branch of this good work by organizing a dramatic club here in the city. Although their initial performance is not during this week, as originally planned, it will be given on the evening of Dec. 19th when they will present "The Middleman" by Henry Arthur Jones, a delightful play of English life.

The performance was first given at the Shaftesbury theatre in London with E. S. Willard in the stellar role and played for two successive years. In this country it was presented at the Cort theatre in New York City with the noted James Hackett in the lead, where it enjoyed a long run.

The local cast will give a careful authentic presentation. The seat sale has been unusually heavy and it is advised that theatre-goers purchase their tickets now.

TEN reasons why you should buy a Columbia

COLUMBIA CABINETS

- Stream-line Cabinet
Harmonizes delightfully with your home furnishings. All finishes are beautiful and easily kept clean.
- Automatic Record Ejector
Eliminates the search for the desired record. An ideal place for your choice selections. Automatically cleans them before use.
- Tone Control Levers
Loud or soft music as you choose—operates on same principle as pipe-organ control.
- One-hand Top
Easy to raise and lower without danger of damage or breakage.

COLUMBIA TONE

- Universal Reproducer
which gives natural accuracy of tone because it is constructed to reproduce the proper balance between overtones and fundamental tones.
- Straight Tone Arm
which allows the sound waves to develop fully and naturally—unimpeded by joints and reflections—from the time they are picked off the record till they emerge through the tone arm.
- Tone Amplifier
which assures free and natural amplification. Size and design are the result of 30 years' constant experimentation.

COLUMBIA MOTOR

- Display Motor
Brake (to stop record) operates in the motor—not on turn-table. Noiseless gears. Guaranteed. Easy to oil or clean.
- Ease of Handling Needles
Three cups for different types. Used needles dropped into special receptacle. Extra convenience of needle insertion.
- Non-Set Automatic Stop
It stops the motor, without human aid, when the record has finished playing.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Case of Anna S. Hermann vs Mary A. Innes and Roy J. Innes, Charging Alienation of Affections

TESTIMONY TAKING IS CLOSED
Interesting Feature is the Fact That There Were Two Ladies on the Jury

The district court room was crowded Thursday with spectators, who are interested in the outcome of the last case on the calendar, and which has been on trial all this week, making it the longest case in this term of court.

Anna S. Hermann is suing Mary A. Innes and Roy J. Innes, for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Wm. H. Hermann. Many witnesses have been called on both sides, and much testimony piled up.

The prosecution has endeavored to prove, through their witnesses, the alleged infidelity of Mrs. Hermann's husband since he became associated in the grocery and automobile supply business with Mrs. Innes, whom he took in as a partner during the past year.

It is alleged by Mrs. Hermann that her husband's affections and attentions have been transferred from his own family to that of the defendants, and that she has received cruel and inhuman treatment at his hands as a result.

All of these charges, of course, are denied by Mr. and Mrs. Innes, who contend that much of the trouble started before they became acquainted with Mr. Hermann, and that their relations with him were purely of a business nature and proper in all respects.

The taking of testimony closed Thursday morning, and the case was argued before the jury in the afternoon, each attorney being given one hour and a quarter in which to make his plea, after which the jury was instructed by the court and sent out to their deliberations.

An interesting feature of this case is the fact that there are two ladies on the jury, Jane Borden and Jennie H. Borden, and there is much conjecture as to what stand they will take in a question such as this case presents.

W. W. Winters is bailiff in charge of the jury, and Mrs. Winters, his wife was sworn in as special deputy in charge of the women jurors. Swanson & Swanson are attorneys for Mrs. Hermann, and S. F. Alderman is counsel for the defendants.

Friday the jury arrived at an agreement at 10:30 this morning, after having been out all night. A verdict was brought in favoring the plaintiff, and allowing her as damages, $650. She sued for $5000.

This case concludes the jury trials in this term of court, which has dragged out much longer than had been anticipated. But there are a number of court cases still to be disposed of.

This morning the divorce case of Hermann vs Hermann is being tried. Anna S. Hermann, the plaintiff in the case just settled, is suing for a limited divorce from Wm. H. Hermann.

She asks to be separated from her husband's bed and board, and that she shall have the custody of the five children. She also asks that Mr. Hermann continue to support the children and herself.

Mr. Hermann operated a grocery and automobile supply store on South 6th street for the past three years, recently disposing of it to the Crowell Co. It is expected that he intends to return to his former position as passenger engineer on the M. & I., where he still retains his rights, being one of the oldest engineers in point of service on the division.

B. P. W. CLUB NOTES GIVEN

The bridge class of the Business and Professional Women's club has been postponed until Wednesday evening, Dec. 13th. Miss Susie Garrett and Miss Lucille Gray will be hostesses on that evening, light refreshments being served.

A fair and sale will be given in the club rooms next Monday evening, Dec. 11th the details of which will be given later. Miss Sue Schow is chairman of the committee, with fourteen other members assisting, which assures a unique and entertaining evening.

Mrs. Dena R. Harvey, chairman of the "Independent Woman" magazine, committee, has asked that a committee to solicit subscriptions for this magazine issued by the National Federation of Business & Professional Women's clubs be appointed to secure 100 per cent subscriptions in the various clubs in the state. Miss Dorothy Carmichael has been appointed chairman of the Brainerd committee, with Georgia Frost and one other as yet not named as assistants. They will start the campaign at once.

Miss Mary Walsh is chairman of the educational committee of the Brainerd club. The National Educational committee of the B. & P. W. clubs has been working over a year to formulate plans for carrying out a program of study of the educational needs of women in business, and the promotion of the best education of women in business. The chairman of the committee is Dr. O. L. Hatcher, President Southern Women's Educational Alliance, Richmond, Va. The task the committees on education face is that of establishing the proper content of education for business and helping actual or prospective business women to secure it.

On New Year's night the Business & Professional Women's club will present Axel and Alice Skovgaard, who are well known to Brainerd audiences, in a joint violin and piano recital at their hall in the Koop block. Axel Skovgaard is a Danish violinist of international reputation, and pleased the music lovers of this city greatly some years ago.

OFFICIAL START OF BASKETBALL

Pine River Coming Down to Knock the Lid Off in Game With Brainerd High School

THE VISITORS GOOD MATERIAL
Lineup of Brainerd Given, Locals Took an Easy Victory from Motley Last Week

(By W. G.)
The official grand opening of the local basketball season will take place on the high school court this Saturday night, Dec. 9. Pine River is coming down to knock the lid off with all her pep and vigor, pent up after two month's practice.

Many think that the northern huckies will lack skill and precision and will put up a crude match with our more experienced cage men. But when we consider that Pine River had some excellent material last season, that practically the whole team will be back to play tomorrow night, with several months' practice to their credit, the outcome is by no means cinched.

Some of our best material will not be on the eligibility list until after the new year, but a strong lineup has been drawn for the first battle. All these men will have a chance in the first real conference game: Capt. Hess, Anderson, and Engbreton, forwards; Peterson and Molstad, center; Orth, Lowe and Heikinen, guards. They are all well known to the basketball adherents of this city, and a large crowd will no doubt be on the side-lines to watch them perform.

Brainerd took an easy victory from Motley last week in a practice game. The agricultural crowd were only able to score three points against the twenty-five of the blue and white. Brainerd showed up well and we expect much from them tomorrow night.

WHAT COLLEGE FOOTBALL OWES THE PUBLIC

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 8.—Chicago University students opposed the suggestion that a big stadium be built at the university to accommodate the crowds that want to see inter-collegiate football in that city.

The attitude was taken that present facilities were sufficient to accommodate the students of the university and that Chicago was not playing football for the public.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton refuse to place tickets on public sale for the "Big Three" games, on the grounds that the public is not entitled to see the games until the alumni have been taken care of.

Harvard, Yale and Princeton cannot be criticized as they are perfectly within their rights in maintaining that their own should be accommodated first and it is known that the demands of their own alumni are far greater than the supply of tickets.

Chicago also may be right in considering that football is not conducted there for the public although it may be taken by some as rather snobbish in ignoring the fact that the public is becoming vastly interested in football.

Private and semi-private institutions have every right to make arbitrary measures for the regulation of their sports, but when public and government institutions assume "the public be damned" attitude, the public has a right to rise on its heels and paw the air.

Distribution of the tickets for the recent Army-Navy game in Philadelphia reached almost the point of a scandal that should receive some attention from Washington.

West Point and Annapolis cannot take the stand that their annual football game is a private affair. They do not play at West Point and Annapolis, but make a play for public patronage by playing in the largest stadium available.

In the new Pennsylvania stadium 10,000 more seats were available than were provided at the Polo grounds for the inter-service game last year and yet the tickets were scarcer than ever.

Few except scalpers had tickets in Philadelphia. Where thousands of football fans were ready and willing to pay the face value for the tickets, they had to go to bellhops, chauffeurs and newsboys for tickets and pay as much as $15 to $25 for them.

The point in question is—if all kinds of scalpers were able to get the tickets, why was the public not given the same opportunity?

Several prominent newspapers and news associations in New York and Philadelphia, which at least deserve courtesy for the columns and columns of news space devoted to the game, wrote to West Point and Annapolis to buy tickets and they were not even given the courtesy of an answer.

Editors who wanted to see the game had to go to scalpers and buy the tickets for outlandish prices.

Yale, Harvard and Princeton have a most effective way of checking the activities of scalpers. The athletic officials at the "Big Three" institutions know where every ticket goes. When tickets are found in the hands of scalpers, the numbers are checked back, the original buyer is discovered and he goes back on the list for life.

This is real distribution of tickets. If the Army and Navy officials really are opposed to working with scalpers, they could find out who allowed the thousands of tickets to get into the hands of speculators.

If Pennsylvania University students, little petty politicians, or Army and Navy officers scalped tickets, the West Point and Annapolis officials surely should know it. If they don't want the public to see their games, their ambition will be realized by a continuation of their present policy.

leys? Or the bizarre mosaics of forest floors?

Always the drama of the open country has held a strong spell for young and old. Great lands, waste lands, Nature's virgin wilderness; the glory of the outdoors holds the fancy of everyone.

The soul of the wanderer turns to solitude, to "mighty pines and the voice of Silence," or to "a low verandah house in a tope by the sea."

The spirit of the wanderer is in every prosaic citizen.

Since the development of Canada and the mad awakening of the Klondike, the glorious beauty of the wooded Northland has been pictured by a corps of brilliant novelists and playwrights.

One who found fine drama in the pervading peace of the Northern woods was Langdon McCormick. He wrote "The Storm," a play which took New York by "storm" with its vivid beauty and gripping strength. This epic of the forests was filmed as a Universal-Jewel special, starring House Peters and directed by the producer of "The Old Nest," Reginald Barker. It comes to the Lyceum theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Selfish Woman's Wiles

Lois Weber, who makes a specialty of placing the dramatic aspects of American life on the screen with truth and vividness, has produced a highly interesting picture in "To Please One Woman," which will be seen at the Lyceum theatre tonight and Saturday. The story relates the havoc wrought by a beautiful, selfish woman with the power to charm men. Faith and true love finally bring happiness to the mess. Mona Lisa, Claire Windsor and Edward Burns play the leading roles. The picture is a Paramount.

"Lights of Desert"

Flashing her smiles from the screen, Shirley Mason will greet local picture fans Sunday at the Lyceum theatre in her latest Fox production, "Lights of the Desert." The story, by Gladys E. Johnson, is well filled with tense moments and dramatic situations of powerful appeal, as well as touches in the lighter vein. In other words, it would appear to be an ideal photoplay for Miss Mason; and this, indeed, is how it is described by many reviewers in other towns.

An excellent cast has been chosen to support the star. Her leading man is Allan Forrest, a very capable young actor.

"Under Two Flags"

Cigarette had the passionate, selfish, jealous nature that a woman nurtured in the lap of fate might be expected to have. Ben Ali, who pressed the services of his "friendly" Arabs upon the French when desert tribes rose in wild revolt, called her a "child of the desert"—which has its meaning in the parlance of Algerian barracks. Reared by the roughest experiences, Cigarette was

GULF COAST

Winter days are summer days along America's Riviera—that famous stretch of shore from New Orleans to Pensacola. Islands and peninsulas, bays and bayous, glistening white beaches, and bordering the shell-road drives or water's edge, moss-draped live oaks and a profusion of wild flowers.

The imprint of the French period is stamped on "elegant, hospitable resort cities:

no dainty daughter of respectability. Victor, the man of mystery, regarded her with complete indifference. That was as it should be. Who was he? No one knew, but obviously he was a gentleman. Who was she? Everyone knew, and it wasn't complimentary. Victor shook dice to decide whether he should side with the French or Arabs. France won. Cold blooded desert warfare, hot blooded love and the tepid influence of civilization, were the elements that wrought a miracle of love in the lives of Cigarette and the unknown man from "outside," though that miracle brought tragedy in its wake. "Under Two Flags" is a Universal-Jewel version of Ouida's immoral epic, starring vital Priscilla Dean, coming to the New Park on Saturday and Sunday.
